

As a logged-in user I want to be able to find more information about my results after a search so that I can choose the results that fit best to me.

- Given a list of results , when I click on the “more information” button at the bottom of a result item, I can be redirected to the result item’s website.
- Given that no website exists for this result item then I will get a system alert saying “No Website available for this item”.