As two logged in users who are friends within the app, we want to find a location to meet anywhere between both of our current locations at our preferred distance ratio.

- Given we have set our starting points, I will receive locations that are in between the two starting points.
- Given that the middle point has no establishments or activities users can do, I will be offered the closest area to the intended halfway point.