As a logged-in user looking to create an itinerary, I want to be able to have access to a list of possible things to do in order to help my decision making.

- Given there are results in the search area, I will be given desired results of that area.
- Given that there are no viable options in the area, I will get an error warning.